

Once he had tasted a few berries, Nwabu could not stop himself.

He ate

and ate

and ate.

A leopard passed under the tree.

In between eating berries, he caught a few flies with his long sticky tongue.

Impala were rutting in the distance.

Time passed.